UNIVERSITY OF YORK

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS & RELATED STUDIES

The Department of Economics and Related Studies invites applications for posts for Readerships and Lecturers

Readerships Ref: UoY00539

The fields are open to any of the key areas of the department and the interests of applicants may be applied and/or theoretical in nature. The successful candidates will have an outstanding record of publication in leading international journals, have an international reputation for excellence in research, and demonstrable research leadership. They will also have an enthusiasm for teaching.

Lectureships Ref: UoY00540

Applicants with research interests in any of our key fields of economics broadly defined are invited to apply. The Department would be especially interested in applications from those working in economic history, finance and development finance.

The University of York is 70th in the QS/THE World University Rankings. The league ranks the leading 500 of the world's 30,000 universities. In RAE 2008 it is rated eighth out of 159 higher education institutions for its research excellence.

The Department of Economics & Related Studies is one of the largest of its kind in the UK and offers undergraduate and postgraduate programmes in Economics, Economic History, Finance and Econometrics and postgraduate programmes in Health Economics. Our key research areas are: Econometrics, Economic History, Finance, Health Economics, Macroeconomics and Microeconomics. Emphasis is placed on high quality in both teaching and research both of which are underpinned by departmental and university initiatives to support quality. The Department is ranked 8th for research power in RAE 2008. In the National Student Survey we were 9th by student opinion of our teaching.

Further information about the Department can be found at our website:

<http://www.york.ac.uk/depts/econ/>. We hope to have a presence at the AEA meetings in Atlanta 3-5 January 2010. If you would like to talk to us there, please email sjc516@york.ac.uk before 23 December 2009.
