

Durham Business School, one of the longest established business schools in the UK, is a multi-disciplinary School characterised by academic excellence, internationally-rated research and superb student support services. The School's diversity and international standing is reflected in the student intake (with over 90 nationalities); accreditation by AACSB, AMBA, and EQUIS; and high rankings in the UK and Europe. Further information on the School can be found at <http://www.dur.ac.uk/dbs/>

The School is currently undergoing an exciting period of development, building on its existing strengths and as such, is recruiting to posts at Professor/Reader and Senior Lecturer/Lecturer level in the Areas of Accounting, Finance, Economics and Islamic Finance.

The successful candidates for Professor/Reader posts will be academics of international standing with a significant and sustainable track record of research publications in high quality journals. They will also have proven ability to offer leadership in research, attract external research funding, supervise PhD students, and deliver high quality teaching at various levels within their field.

The successful candidates for the Lectureship/Senior Lectureship posts will be expected to show clear potential to publish in leading journals, contribute to quality teaching, and bid for external research income.

Interested candidates should apply for the positions online. The positions will be advertised in late November on www.jobs.ac.uk and will stay open until mid January. Professor Alessandra Guariglia, Head of the Departments of Economics, Finance, and Accounting (tel: +44 (0)191 3345388; E-mail:alessandra.guariglia@durham.ac.uk) can be contacted for further information.
