Aim and Topics
The International Workshop on Financial System Architecture and Stability (IWFSAS) aims at providing a forum for academic researchers and policy makers to discuss issues related to the structure and design of financial systems and their impact on growth and financial stability. While the specific theme may vary from year to year, the overall objective of this annual workshop is to facilitate discussions of high quality policy relevant research papers that inform our understanding of how various financial sector policies can affect the stability of the financial system and the overall economy, both nationally and globally.
The 2016 inaugural meeting of the IWFSAS is dedicated to discussing the role of Cooperative Financial Institutions (CFIs). CFIs appear to have weathered the 2008 global financial crisis better than commercial banks. For instance, European co-operative banks, which represent about 20 percent of the European banking sector, were responsible for a much smaller portion of the direct losses and write downs of the European banking sector during the crisis. While commercial banks retreated somewhat from the credit markets during the period of 2007-2010, CFIs expanded their loans to the private sector in this time frame. Despite this, the role of cooperative banks, credit unions, and other types of financial institutions with alternative forms of ownership, seem to be missing from the current discussions and debates about financial stability and regulatory reforms.

We welcome both theoretical and empirical contributions on this topic. Each paper will be reviewed by two members of our scientific committee before we make acceptance decisions. The workshop program will include formal discussions of all papers selected for presentation. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The role of CFIs in strengthening the financial system and its resilience to crises;
- Competition and bank risk-taking: are cooperative banks different from commercial banks?
- Financial stability risks of cooperative banks vs commercial banks;
- Cooperative banks impact on economic growth and income inequality;
- Impact of CFIs on financial inclusion and access to finance;
- CFIs and relationship lending;
- CFIs in developing and emerging markets;
- The raisons d’être of the cooperative banking model in the 21st century;
- Regulating CFIs versus other Financial Institutions;
- Safety nets and moral hazard: Commercial banks versus CFIs;
- Corporate governance and internal structure of CFIs;
- Services by CFIs in small and large communities;
- Fintech and the optimal scale of CFIs

Journal Publications Opportunities
The conference organizers, in collaboration with the editors of the Journal of Financial Stability (JFS), will invite the authors of select conference papers to submit their manuscripts to the JFS. Although there is no special issue associated with the conference, the editorial team of the journal will ensure the selected papers undergo a fast-track review process while maintaining the otherwise regular editorial, refereeing, and revision standards of the journal. This special consideration is granted in light of the anticipated high caliber of the papers in the conference program.

Best Paper Awards
There will be two Best Paper Awards of $1,000 each sponsored by the Centre for Sustainable and Social Innovation (CSSI) at University of Victoria and the International Research Centre on Cooperative Finance (IRCCF) at HEC Montreal. More details on the selection criteria for these awards will be posted later.

Conference Venue: University of Victoria

The University of Victoria is situated 10mn drive from the city center of Victoria, British Columbia, and is very well served with public transit. Victoria, BC is full of life! The capital of British Columbia has the mildest climate in Canada with gardens blooming year-round. The wild beauty of the Pacific coast and the adventure of the great outdoors are within the city limits and ocean and mountain vistas will follow you wherever you go. Victoria is a year-round tourism destination that offers a friendly environment for all visitors. Getting here is very easy, and, once here, you will feel a million miles away. With a clean environment and charming ambience, it is no surprise that Victoria, BC is one of the world's favourite destinations. For more information visit the Tourism Victoria website.

Accommodation

There are many excellent hotels in Victoria and we recommend booking very early, as space may be limited during the summer high season. More information on hotel options with conference rates and conference-related activities will be posted soon (http://www.uvic.ca/iwfsas2016).
