

Call For Papers
2020 Northeastern University Finance Conference

May 8-9, 2020, Boston, MA

Following the success of our past conferences, the Faculty in the Finance Group of Northeastern University's D'Amore-McKim School of Business are pleased to invite submissions from all areas of finance to be considered for presentation at the 2020 Northeastern University Finance Conference. The conference will be held at the D'Amore-McKim School of Business and will start at noon on Friday the 8th of May and end by 5 pm on Saturday the 9th of May. There will be a Conference Reception in the evening on Friday, May 8th.

We encourage both theoretical and empirical contributions and seek papers that have not previously been presented at other conferences. All papers will be reviewed by our Finance Faculty. We typically select for presentation papers written by those at an early stage of their career, and then choose more senior researchers as discussants. The final program will consist of around eight papers. Please see the programs for the previous conferences on this event page: <https://damore-mckim.northeastern.edu/events/finance-conference-2020/>

We will pay for (i) domestic economy airfare up to $500; (ii) up to two nights stay at the Conference hotel; and (iii) Conference meals and the Conference reception for paper presenters and discussants.

The deadline for submissions is November 22, 2019. We will notify authors of accepted papers by January 20, 2020.

TO SUBMIT A PAPER: First, pay the submission fee of $75 at the following site <https://commerce.cashnet.com/SFDMSBFC>, (if "control+click" does not work, copy and paste this link in your browser), where you will receive a receipt for your payment. Then, send this receipt (as a pdf file) and your paper (also a pdf file) by email to financeconf@northeastern.edu. Please submit only one paper per presenting author.

In March, we will contact invited participants with details on the program and travel logistics.
