

University of Bristol, School of Economics, Finance and Management Lecturer (Assistant Professor) in Finance

The Department of Accounting and Finance - part of the University of Bristol School of Economics, Finance and Management - invites applications for the position of Lecturer (Assistant Professor) in Finance. Salary is British Pound 35,609 to 46,414.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS: Applications are sought from candidates with research interests in any field of finance. Successful applicants will have a strong research background with clear potential to publish their research in leading international journals. They should also have an aptitude to teach to the highest standards at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Generous teaching allowances are available to allow early career researchers to establish and develop their research portfolio.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY: The University of Bristol holds an excellent position as a centre for research and teaching and attracts international faculty and students at all levels. Bristol is one of the most attractive and lively cities in the UK. It is within easy reach of London and has many European flight connections. The Department of Accounting and Finance has excellent resources and invests heavily in research. It provides generous research budgets, has access to state-of-the art financial databases and regularly attracts international speakers as part of its active research seminar series. Further information on the Department of Accounting and Finance is available at <http://www.bristol.ac.uk/accounting>

APPLICATIONS/FURTHER INFORMATION: The closing date for applications is midnight on Sunday 17 April 2016. It is expected that interviews will be held on 24 May 2016. The proposed start date is the 1st September 2016.

To discuss the role, please contact Professor Mark Clatworthy (telephone Val Harvey on (+44 (0) 117 33 10511 or +44 (0) 117 39 41504) or email Mark.Clatworthy@bristol.ac.uk