

West Virginia University, Department of Finance
Visiting Professor of Finance

The Department of Finance at West Virginia University seeks to fill a one year, non-tenure track, Visiting Professor position for the 2016-2017 academic year.

JOB DESCRIPTION: The successful candidate may teach courses in a variety of areas including corporate finance, investments, personal finance, financial markets and institutions, real estate, international, banking and derivatives at the undergraduate level. Specific and immediate teaching needs are in investments and security analysis, but any area of teaching will be considered.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates with ABD status will be considered but a completed Ph.D. in finance or equivalent field is preferred. We also welcome applications from senior candidates, who are on sabbatical or leave from their primary institutions for the 2016-2017 academic year.

ABOUT WVU: Founded in 1867, West Virginia University is the state's primary land-grant comprehensive institution. WVU is classified as a Research University (High Research Activity) by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. The College of Business and Economics is AACSB accredited and offers undergraduate majors in Accounting, Economics, Finance, Management and Marketing, and master's degrees in Business Administration, Finance, Industrial Relations, Economics, and Professional Accountancy. The College also has Ph.D. programs in Economics and in Business Administration, with concentrations in Accounting, Finance, Management and Marketing. Information about the College is available at <http://www.be.wvu.edu>

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Applications should be accompanied by a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names and contact details of at least three professional references. Applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled, and review of applications will begin immediately. It is University policy to perform a background check on the candidate who is selected for the position.
